- ♦ Starting in 2016, the program will include a required Summer Institute (SI) in the third year of the program. Implemented based upon feedback from students regarding the value of SI.
- ♦ The program is designed to allow students to continue working for the majority of the program. It is recommended that students be prepared to reduce their hours of work/other obligations if the demands of graduate studies warrant it. The final two semesters of program include a practicum placement, impacting ability to work during those semesters.
- ♦ Course offerings are subject to change.
