COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course is divided into a pre-summer institute study and a summer institute study. The pre-institute component consists of five units which will cover Cognitive Behavioral Therapy as well as basic information and groundwork necessary for success in the summer institute. In between the on-line component and the summer institute you will be required to do some reading – the summer institute is a busy time, so the more prepared you are in terms of reading, the better! The summer institute consists of five days that emphasize practicing strategies and interventions. It is expected that learners pass the content portion of the pre-summer Institute before participating in the summer institute. It is expected that students pass the Summer Institute video/skills assignment in order to pass the entire course.

This course combines a theoretical and practical focus to develop a framework from which to plan and implement client change interventions in a variety of contexts. I assume that students have already mastered a repertoire of basic skills for establishing a working alliance and have the ability to use those skills in the design and implementation of intervention strategies that help promote change that is consistent with client goals.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

Upon successful completion of this course, participants will be able to:

1. Explore a range of key counselling techniques and the theoretical basis underlying each;
2. To gain an understanding of the basic philosophy and fundamental principles of CBT;
3. To gain competence in implementing basic CBT techniques for depression and anxiety disorders;
4. Describe a framework for case conceptualization and intervention planning;
5. Demonstrate the ability to implement the framework in a counselling context;

6. Select and justify interventions that are appropriate for client issues;
7. Demonstrate competence in the design and application of a range of interventions;
8. Critically evaluate the intervention efficacy, including appropriateness, process followed, and outcomes attained; and
9. Engage in self-reflection and self-exploration

For M.C. online courses, attendance is reflected by making the required number of posts – please refer the students to the document: McBride, D., & Shepard, B. Intellectual Honesty

Plagiarism is a form of intellectual dishonesty in which another person's work is presented as one's own. Be certain that whenever you use a secondary source in your course work and assignments you reference your source in a consistent and logical manner. All direct quotes (quotations of any number of words from the original) and indirect quotes (paraphrased ideas) must be acknowledged. Failure to do so constitutes plagiarism, and as with any form of academic misconduct, it will be penalized. Penalties may take the form of rejection of the submitted work; expulsion from the course or the program; or legal action, depending on the specific nature of the infraction. However, dutiful citation of quotes and paraphrased materials does not mean that you can write an essay assignment by stringing together a series of quotes. You should always try to summarize or describe someone else's ideas in your own words. When you present your own ideas or opinions in a paper, provide evidence or arguments to substantiate your position. The APA website offers information about the citation styles of the American Psychological Association.

All written assignments must be completed according to the format described in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). We strongly recommend that you purchase a copy of the APA Manual and refer to it when writing papers and compiling reference lists. The specific number of marks allotted to APA format for each assignment is indicated under the grading criteria for that assignment. In this course you will be expected to use APA style when posting on the Discussion Forum and for the Workbook Presentation Powerpoint.

Group Work

Over the past few years, sometimes group assignments have become problematic. For this reason, I have created a group feedback form.

Please be professional and at the same time honest.

There are six categories that I would like you to use to assess your peers and yourself for the group projects (Part A and Part B). For each item, rate each person and yourself using the 4-point scale that will be posed under resources on the Moodle site. Please think hard and honestly about each of the categories and how you and each group member performed. It is not necessary that everyone get the highest score on each item. Different people will have different strengths and different contributions. Beside each rating item, I have included a space for comments. Please include examples or explanations that will help me understand your ratings. Please do your evaluations independently – do not share or discuss your scoring or come to a decision based on a group opinion. I want a rating from each of you, based on your perceptions and experiences.

Submit one form for each person, including yourself, with your name and the assessed person's name on each form. I will not use the score in determining your group grade; however, if any difficulties are identified, I will be in touch with the group members to discuss the ways in which we can deal with the situation.

Readings and Topic list to be determined
