HISTORY OF PICTURE BUTTE NEWSPAPERS

Historical documentation of the Picture Butte newspapers is very scarce. An appeal for information by means of a Letter to the Editors of both the Sunny South News and the Lethbridge Herald elicited these few responses from local Individuals:

1. Flossie Erno found a reference in the Coyote Flats Historical Review page 278, that is quoted as follows: “A local newspaper was started by David Wood and Ross Anderson. This was later followed by a larger venture operated by H. Tilston-Jones. Syd Johnson also published a newspaper several years later.”

2. Rhys Stevens at the University of Lethbridge Library, confirmed that the dates of publication and the names of the publishers of “The Northern Times” as quoted above are accurate as stated in “Alberta Newspaper 1880-1982 A Historical Directory” authored by Gloria Strathern.

3. Gary Foster, who grew up in Picture Butte and now lives in Calgary, remembers “The Picture Butte Progress” located in a small building on Main Street and published by Syd Johnson.

4. Mae Lewis of Picture Butte remembers that her mother, Mrs. MacKay, wrote some of the local news for the paper.

5. Joe Watson remembers that a photo of his Dad’s baseball team was featured in one of the issues of “The Picture Butte Progress”.

6. Mike Demeter has a clear memory of the businesses that lined the downtown portion of his hometown. Mike remembers the fun they had on an outdoor skating rink. Water to flood the rink came through a fire hose from the dam, and volunteers shoveled the snow over the fence as necessary. He also remembers the out-door swimming pool located near the west end of the village being filled with water from the irrigation ditch.

7. Thanks to Wendy Warren for locating at the Tractor Museum Archives a total of 32 issues of “The Northern Times” (This was the first attempt at publishing a weekly paper in Picture Butte. The information in these past issues was essential in completing this story.) Those issues are dated from July 25, 1940 to June 19, 1941. The June 19, 1941 was the last issue printed. Although incomplete, they do give a description of the news items and concerns of that era.
A newspaper of decades ago provides information about what people thought was important. It shows ads and photos from years past. It answers questions about what people were being encouraged to buy. The papers include not only the standard births, deaths, and marriage notices but also include when people from far away came to visit somebody in the community. Looking through old newspapers brings back memories of items long since forgotten by the survivors of that period and for the younger folks the old newspapers tell of events and concerns of past history.

The first issue of The Northern Times was published on May 2, 1940 and carried the following masthead:

THE NORTHERN TIMES
“PROGRESS WITH THE NORTHERN”
PUBLISHERS: J. ROSS ANDERSON, DAVID G. WOOD
ASSISTANT EDITOR: JEAN BLEWETT ANDERSON
STAFF ARTIST: MAUREEN REDD-WOOD
Published every Thursday
The printing process used was Mimeograph
Distribution 400

Thirteen issues of The Northern Times were printed and distributed free of charge from May 2 to July 25, 1940. The publishers bore the cost of these introductory issues to stimulate interest in a local weekly paper. The last free issue, dated July 25, 1940 carried a full-page ad asking people to mail in a coupon to Northern Times Box 370 Picture Butte and enclose fifty cents to cover a three-month subscription.

The January 30, 1941 issue listed the districts being served as Iron Springs, Picture Butte, Bulmer, Barrhill, Battersea, Shaughnessy. The subscription rate was $1.00 per year, $.55 per six months and $.30 per three months. Circulation increased to 500. The Northern Times was first printed in two columns, on 8 ½ X 11 inch paper, and appears to be typed with an ordinary typewriter with a carbon ribbon.

The publishers must have had access to some other printing machine because of the use of various sizes and style of fonts. The September 26, 1940 and to June 19, 1941 was printed in three columns.

The June 19, 1941 issue carried the note that the publication was to be suspended for the summer holidays and that the subscribers would have their paper’s expiry date extended accordingly. The Times did not resume printing after June 19, 1941.

Historians will recall that by June of 1940 the war with Germany had been in the news for about ten months and the news was mostly bad, By then, Hitler had...
annexed Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, most of Denmark, Holland, and France. The bombing of Britain had just begun.

Some of the items gleaned from those war-time issues are as follows:

- Citizens were bombarded with requests to assist the war effort, mostly by buying war savings certificates. On July 5, 1940 a War Savings night was held at the Melody Theatre. It featured Edgar Bergen, his friend Charlie and W. C. Fields. The admission price was two War Savings certificates @ $5.00 each. The total amount raised is not recorded.

- A poster – “Buy Dominion of Canada Bonds. Help win the war.”
  Secretary – R. S. O’Brien

- A front-page headline of December 12, 1940 read “Help Stamp Out Hitler” by the purchase of War Savings Certificates. Churchill’s valiant promise, “Give us the tools and we will finish the job”.

- To raise funds for the Red Cross and other organizations a number of local farmers canvassed the entire district and obtained the donation of 62 acres of wheat and 12 acres of sugar beets with the proceeds of these crops going to the Red Cross. This project became so successful that it received widespread interest across the country.

- At a meeting of the local Red Cross at the Highway Hotel plans were made for the annual drive for funds. The country-wide campaign for funds is to be held on October 14. Do your bit by helping the Red Cross.

- In September 1940 the Red Cross workers received instructions for knitting scarves and sleeveless sweaters for the boys overseas. Christmas parcels are to be sent to every enlisted man from this district. In January 1941 word was received that the Christmas gifts of flashlights and tobacco had been received and much appreciated by the men overseas.

- The local W.A. branch of the Church of England held a “Patriotic Tea’ with funds going to the war effort.

- The Northern Times carried news of men who had enlisted. This list is far from complete but the following does show the part the weekly newspaper played in informing people of the war news. Lloyd Handley to Red Deer, Tommy Patterson to Brandon and Eugene Patterson to Detroit – each to begin different types of military training. Some men who were stationed in Winnipeg and home on leave were Bayne Anderson of the Bulmer district, Eugene Ensign and Ed Wilson of Picture Butte. Bernard Nolan received his call for military duty.

-A club was formed to encourage people to make regular donations of blood.

A smattering of non-war news follows:

- The first Progress office was located in the Becker Block and carried the following ad: “We invite you to bring your news, advertising, and job work. Local news deadline is 6:00 pm. Tuesdays. No charge for local news. We solicit your subscriptions.”

- September 1940 “Heavy traffic especially beet trucks have caused the road from the factory to the river hill to be in very poor condition. People are demanding that piece of road be graveled.”

- In response to the requests for road improvements, the Provincial Government will place a coat of gravel on the road from the factory to the river hill.

- Merle Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Foster, and Robert Atkinson were recently married. A shower had previously been held at the bride’s home. A charivari surprised the newly weds on September 17.

- In October 1940, representatives from International Harvester Company were guests of J. J. Watson to witness their recently improved beet digger.

- An Iron Lung has been installed in each of the Lethbridge hospitals to facilitate treatment of infantile paralysis.

- Hyde and Sundal Hardware were advertising stove pipes, coal pails, and fire shovels. Also English tea pots 45 cents. Another ad stated a $2.00 allowance will be given for any lamp on the purchase of a new Coleman.

- Heber Jones, E.J. Karren, Ted Malmberg and others organized the annual sports day including ball games on the newly leased sports grounds. Dance to follow – gentlemen 60 cents. The W. I. (Women’s Institute) provided the refreshments with proceeds to the Red Cross.

- On October 24, 1940 James Paul, local Alberta Wheat Pool agent, reported that the new 35,000 bushel annex was ready to accept delivery. Alberta Pool elevators have applied for a third quota for Picture Butte.

- Get a permanent at Bennie’s Beauty Parlor, special prices $2.00, $3.00, $3.50.

- Free testing of radio tubes at Bide Clark’s Radio Service.

- Price’s Pharmacy Christmas gift suggestion – Cameras $1.25 and up. We also have a good selection of Christmas cigarettes and cigars.

Players mentioned in the news included Art Lewis, Russell Findlay, Toccoli, Bohne, Negrello, Watson, Chervinski, Smerek, Jimmy Paul, Orlando, E. Lucianni, Malmberg, Karren, Gibson.

“THE PICTURE BUTTE PROGRESS”

Wendy Warren also located at the tractor Museum Archives and loaned to the writer of this story about 120 issues of the Picture Butte Progress that was published in the 1940’s. A selection of news items and ads from that paper has provided a glimpse into the lives and customs of the people of that era. It is hoped that the following excerpts will be of interest to present day readers:

The masthead on the 1947 issues carried this information:

THE PICTURE BUTTE PROGRESS
OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE LETHBRIDGE NORTHERN BEET GROWERS ASSOCIATION
SERVING THE LETHBRIDGE NORTHERN IRRIGATION DISTRICT
H. TILSTON-JONES - PUBLISHER AND EDITOR
G. W. SMITH MECHANICAL SUPERINTENDENT
Printed on the linotype machine
CIRCULATION 800

The following article taken from the October 6, 1954 Lethbridge Herald and provided courtesy of Rhys Stevens at the University of Lethbridge Library tells some of the history of the paper. It is reprinted here in its entirety:

Picture Butte Publisher Has No Trouble “Keeping Busy”
By Ed Arrol

Picture Butte – Youthful publisher of the Lethbridge Northern News at Picture Butte, Syd Johnson manages to keep “kind of busy”, aided by his wife, Ione, who operates the paper’s linotype machine, and his son, Guy, who goes to school. Besides his publishing chore, Syd does commercial photography, he is projectionist at the local theatre, he works in the sugar factory, he feeds cattle part-time, he is the deputy mayor of Picture Butte and a member of town council, and on Sundays Syd Johnson is superintendent of the LDS church Sunday School at Picture Butte.

His explanation for the over-active life? “I’ve got to get all the money I can for the paper.”

Before taking over the North Lethbridge News, which he is buying from the former publisher, George Patton, Syd and Ione had no idea how to publish a weekly newspaper. They learned in three months instruction from the ex-owner, when they started a year ago last April. Now “it” happens every Thursday with the help of Gart Vandenberg, a Dutch printer who “works beets” in the daytime and sets type for the Lethbridge Northern News at night.

When they decided to move their location onto Main Street, the whole community helped. One hundred and 42 townspeople helped carry things over and some of the machinery weighed 2 ½ tons. But it was done in half a day. The linotype was moved over on a “hunk of tin”.

Syd and Ione were able to repay in a small manner by saving parents money through their textbook exchange system. In the end they benefitted too, for their newspaper shop also sells photo equipment and books, and people became acquainted with the new location.

“The kids put a price on their own books, then brought their second-hand texts to the newspaper office and traded. We charged them an exchange rate of five cents on every text priced under one dollar, and ten cents over that amount.”

Syd took a couple of days off to attend the recent 51st annual Alberta Division Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association convention at the MacDonald Hotel in Edmonton. The paper was “just in the mail “ before train time. “You might call that my holidays”, Syd explained at the convention, “because I keep kind of busy”.

The cost for one ad in The Picture Butte Progress to sell something or to buy something is only 25 cents. Annual Subscription to The Picture Butte Progress is only $1.50 per year. The new Progress Office is located just west of the Post office. The 1942 editions were printed on a large format approximately 15” X 22’. The first issue of the Picture Butte Progress was dated November 6, 1941 and every week until 1954. This newspaper was continued by the Lethbridge Northern News until November 1947. Some war-time items gleaned from those issues are as follows:

-On August 18, 1942, the following Iron Springs Honor list was published:

-Buy the New Victory Bonds every week for cash or by installments.

- February 1942 – Buy Victory Bonds. Picture Butte’s quota is $18,000. Remember that it is not a donation. It is a loan at interest on the security of the Dominion of Canada. Hitler would not ask you to lend. He would just take it. An ad in Watsons reads “ Think this over. If the Nazis or the Japs ever occupied Canada do you imagine you’d be given the honor and the privilege of buying any kind of bond? You would not! Then go all out to defeat the enemy with your money and buy the New Victory Bonds”.

- November 4, 1942 – It was reported subscriptions had been received amounting to $22,500 or 25% over the quota.!

- The War Time Prices and Trade Board distributed new ration books to be valid starting September 7. Sugar, tea and coffee could be purchased only with valid coupons. Postum was advertised as a substitute for tea and coffee.
-Canada’s new fighting army needs men. Every man between the ages of 16 and 69 who is unemployed after May 1, 1942 must register at the Picture Butte Post Office or the Board of Trade Building in Lethbridge. Enroll now!

-School opened September 3, 1942. Until word comes from Ottawa, none of the Japanese students are allowed to attend. Approval came from Ottawa on September 24 for the Japanese students to attend school.

-From the men overseas came the cry “Send us smokes”. Local groups regularly sent parcels of cigarettes and other items. The maker of Dodd’s Kidney Pills donated two million cigarettes to be sent overseas. The Picture Butte BPOE (Elks) also sent parcels of mostly cigarettes. Letter of thanks were received from many of the men, a few of which are J.J. Johnston, R.B. Anderson, Harold Gill, Stan Thomas, Mac Johnson, W. Sinden, Walter Foster, H.T. Doren, R. Ostrum, and many more.

- Many western grain elevators will help make collection of scrap iron easier. Scrap iron is needed for more ships, tanks, planes, and munitions. Will pay $7.00 per ton for scrap iron.

-An American Newspaper declares that but for Britain the war would be lost. But for Britain Hitler would be triumphant over the whole world, or at least we, that is, U.S.A., would be fighting it unprepared.

- The long dreamed about Trans Canada Highway is now within the realm of actuality. The need for faster shipping due to the war was one of the factors speeding up the completion of the highway.

- An appeal was made to all citizens to collect and turn in all scrap rubber materials to supplement crude rubber that is in short supply.

- Butter is now rationed to one half pound per person per week.

- June 3, 1943 – The Board of Trade and the Village Council are co-operating in securing truck drivers for convoys of Prisoners of War for beet work.

- Sugar is scarce, so use a substitute. A 4 oz. bottle of sugar substitute @ 55cents is equal to 8 pound of sugar.

- The newly organized Lethbridge Northern Branch of the Canadian Legion is planning a Remembrance Day Ceremony for Picture Butte on Monday November 11. 1946.

(It is regrettable that we do not have access to copies of The Picture Butte Progress from 1943 to 1946. It would have been interesting to know how they announced and celebrated the end of the war in June 1945.)

It has been difficult to compile a complete and accurate history of the newspaper business in Coaldale due to a fire in 1966 which destroyed all the files.

Mrs. R. J. (Millie) Baldry, who was the Coaldale correspondent for the local newspaper, the Lethbridge Herald and CJOC Radio and Television, tells us that Lloyd Gilmour started the Coaldale News in the early 1940’s and was soon followed by J. J. Loewen. Mr. Loewen published the weekly Coaldale Flyer which consisted of two to four pages of both advertising and news. During the 1950’s Mr. Loewen bought the Northern News and had the mailing list for the Raymond Recorder. He had twelve correspondents contributing material and was assisted by Anna Hartwig.
In 1957 the Coaldale weekly paper received its present name, the Sunny South News, and in 1960 it was purchased by Bert and Rose Staddon. The print shop was located in the building now occupied by Herb Fletcher’s Men’s Shop and all of the lead typesetting was done there. Rose worked along with Bert with the paper, looking after the office work.

The fire in January 1966 destroyed all the newspaper files and much of the machinery, resulting in the necessity of having the paper printed elsewhere. The Taber Times did this printing for several years until, due to ill health, Bert was forced to retire and the Taber Times bought the paper.

Bill Schuurman of Coalhurst was one of the early editors under the Times, followed by Barbara Duckworth in 1974 and Colleen Valin in 1975.

Some of the hard working correspondents over the years in addition to Millie Baldry were Jessie Nolan, Mary Tymbursky, and Marie Sorgard who had twenty-five years of service behind her for the Picture Butte area. In 1973 I started working part-time and am now a full time employee.

I have had the privilege of reading through copies of submissions to the paper by Mrs. Baldry, dating back to the very beginning of the newspaper and before that to the Lethbridge Herald, and it makes one realize the fullness of her dedication to the community. It also gives us a backward glimpse into an industrious, friendly town.

The Sunny South News is presently located on main street with Colleen and myself in the office and Marie Sorgard still contributing Picture Butte and district news. A sixteen page (more or less) tabloid size paper is published every Wednesday.

The County of Lethbridge has found the printing of their minutes in the newspaper a good community link with the residents and have had a contract for providing subscriptions to rate payers for some time. The Town of Picture Butte likewise found this system useful and has also participated for several years.”
